

Army Pink Campus Network & Retreat Partnership Strategy

The Escape Club
University Chapters
Survivor Healing Partnerships

Campus Outreach Program

Purpose of This Strategy

Army Pink is building a national network that mobilizes students, supporters, and mission-aligned wellness partners to fund emergency transportation and long-term healing opportunities for survivors of domestic violence.

This strategy brings together three key pillars:

- The Escape Club membership community
- A nationwide university ambassador network
- Strategic wellness retreat partnerships

Together, these components create a sustainable fundraising ecosystem that supports both immediate safety and long-term recovery for survivors.

The Core Mission

Army Pink's Pathway to Freedom initiative helps survivors escape dangerous situations by funding safe transportation and providing pathways toward recovery.

A simple impact message will guide all campaigns:

$50 funds one safe ride for someone escaping abuse.

This clarity allows students, donors, and partners to easily understand the direct impact of their support.

The Escape Club Structure

The Escape Club serves as the community backbone of the Army Pink ecosystem.

Escape Club Supporter Membership

Supporters join the Escape Club for: $50 per month

Each membership represents one escape ride funded each month.

Members receive:

- updates on lives impacted
- invitations to virtual community gatherings
- recognition as supporters of the mission
- opportunities to sponsor larger initiatives

The Escape Club becomes a consistent revenue stream that supports emergency transportation.

Escape Club Student Chapters

Students join for free.

The goal is to remove financial barriers while allowing students to participate in activism, fundraising, and community building.

Each university can host an Escape Club Campus Chapter.

Examples:

Escape Club – San Diego State Escape Club – UCLA Escape Club – USC

Students participate by:

- organizing fundraising campaigns
- recruiting volunteers
- raising awareness on campus
- supporting survivor advocacy

Students act as Army Pink ambassadors on campus.

The Escape Club Community Platform (Discord)

To connect students, ambassadors, and supporters across different campuses, Army Pink will establish a central Escape Club community on Discord.

The Discord community will function as the national hub for collaboration, communication, and engagement.

A dedicated volunteer or team member will be responsible for:

- setting up the Discord server
- organizing channels for different campuses
- moderating discussions
- sharing campaign updates and announcements
- onboarding new ambassadors and members

Suggested Discord structure:

Main Channels

announcements mission updates
fundraising strategies
ambassador leadership volunteer opportunities

Campus Channels

SDSU chapter
UCLA chapter
USC chapter
UCSD chapter
future university chapters

The Discord community will allow students across the country to:

- share successful fundraising ideas
- collaborate on campaigns
- stay motivated through peer support
- build a nationwide advocacy network

Creating this digital community early will help Army Pink scale the university network quickly and maintain strong communication across campuses.

The Campus Ambassador Program

Each participating university will recruit 10–20 student ambassadors. These ambassadors lead all campus initiatives. Responsibilities include:

- organizing fundraising campaigns
- promoting awareness through social media
- coordinating with student clubs
- engaging Greek organizations
- hosting awareness discussions and virtual panels

Ambassadors receive:

- leadership experience
- resume recognition
- LinkedIn recommendations
- volunteer hours documentation
- recognition through Army Pink leadership awards

This creates a strong incentive for student involvement.

National Campus Network Model

Army Pink will begin by launching at several universities and then expanding nationwide.

Early target campuses include:

- San Diego State University
- University of California, Los Angeles
- University of Southern California
- University of California, San Diego
- California State University, Long Beach
- Loyola Marymount University

These campuses have large student populations and strong cultures of philanthropy and student activism. Once the model is proven, the network can expand nationally.

Key Campus Fundraising Campaigns

Students will organize campaigns that require no upfront funding.

Golden Ticket Premium Raffle

One flagship campaign is the Golden Ticket Raffle. Students sell raffle tickets for a premium donated experience. Example prizes may include:

- luxury wellness retreats
- travel experiences
- VIP event packages
- technology bundles

Online raffle platforms make this easy to run without costs. Examples include:

- Givebutter: <https://givebutter.com>
- BetterWorld: <https://betterworld.org>
- RallyUp: <https://rallyup.com>

All ticket sales go directly to Army Pink's mission.

Fund 100 Escape Rides Campus Challenge

Each campus participates in a friendly competition.

Goal:

Fund 100 rides to safety.

Example structure:

$50 = 1 ride $5,000 = 100 rides funded

Campuses compete through a public leaderboard.
This taps into natural university pride and competition.

Dorm Competitions

Residence halls compete to raise the most funds.

Example:

Dorm A vs Dorm B vs Dorm C

Winning dorm receives recognition and donated prizes such as pizza parties or sponsored events.

Greek Life Philanthropy Partnership

Fraternities and sororities run large philanthropy campaigns each year. These organizations can adopt Army Pink as a philanthropic partner.

Activities may include:

- charity tournaments
- awareness weeks
- fundraising competitions
- social media challenges

Greek organizations are often responsible for significant campus fundraising totals.

The Student Life Leadership Challenge

To inspire deeper involvement, Army Pink will introduce a national student challenge.

The Escape Leader Challenge

Students who raise significant funds receive recognition.

Example tiers:

$1,000 raised → Army Pink Advocate Recognition

$5,000 raised → Army Pink Leadership Award

$10,000 raised → Eligibility for a luxury wellness retreat experience

These incentives motivate ambitious student leaders.

The Wellness Retreat Partnership Model

Army Pink is building partnerships with wellness organizations that align with the mission of healing and recovery.

One key partner is: Vedanta Holistic Spiritual Retreats

Vedanta retreats may be offered as fundraising incentives and raffle prizes. These experiences create excitement around fundraising campaigns while introducing supporters to meaningful wellness experiences.

Long-Term Vision for Retreat Partnerships

The retreat partnership model has two phases.

Phase One: Fundraising Support

Retreat partners donate experiences that can be used for:

- raffle prizes
- student fundraising incentives
- donor auction items
- campaign rewards

This helps Army Pink generate early funding and awareness. In return, partners receive visibility through:

- campaign promotion
- website recognition
- social media features
- donor communications

Long-Term Vision for Retreat Partnerships

Phase Two: Survivor Healing Retreats

As Army Pink secures grant funding and corporate sponsorships, the organization plans to develop a survivor healing retreat program.

Programs may include:

- trauma-informed yoga
- meditation and mindfulness
- wellness workshops
- counseling support
- rest and recovery time

Retreat partners would host these programs and receive paid bookings funded by grants or donors. This creates a long-term revenue pathway for retreat partners.

Corporate-Sponsored Survivor Retreats

Corporations may sponsor retreats as part of their social impact programs.

Example sponsorship levels:

$25,000 sponsor → small retreat group
$50,000 sponsor → full retreat experience
$100,000 sponsor → multiple retreats annually

Corporate sponsors receive recognition for supporting survivor recovery.

Why This Partnership Model Works

Army Pink gains:

- compelling fundraising incentives
- mission-aligned partners
- future recovery programs for survivors

Retreat partners gain:

- national exposure
- philanthropic brand alignment
- future paid retreat bookings
- introductions to potential customers

Students gain:

- leadership experience
- activism opportunities
- meaningful impact

Donors gain:

- a clear understanding of their impact
- opportunities to support survivor healing

Additional Potential Wellness Partners

To connect students, ambassadors, and supporters Army Pink can eventually collaborate with other retreat organizations and wellness programs.

Examples may include:

- meditation retreat centers
- yoga retreat organizations
- trauma recovery wellness centers
- nature-based healing retreats

Potential organizations:

- Esalen Institute
- Omega Institute for Holistic Studies
- Kripalu Center for Yoga & Health

The Bigger Vision

The long-term goal is to create a national network where:
students drive fundraising supporters fund escape rides wellness partners support healing corporate sponsors fund recovery programs
This structure supports survivors through both escape and recovery.

Next Steps

Immediate priorities include:

1. Launch the first university chapters
2. Recruit the first student ambassadors
3. Begin the Golden Ticket fundraising campaign
4. Establish the initial wellness retreat partnership structure
5. Create the campus partnership deck
6. Build and launch the Escape Club Discord community

How This Model Can Realistically Raise $1M–$10M Annually

 Escape Club Membership	 University Fundraising Network	 Corporate Sponsored Retreats	 Premium Raffles & Campaigns	 Combined Potential
1,000 members × $50/month = $600,000/year 5,000 members × $50/month = $3,000,000/year	100 universities × $10K/year = $1,000,000/year Large universities could raise $25K–$100K annually.	10 sponsors × $50,000 = $500,000/year With growth, corporate sponsorships could exceed $1M annually.	Golden Ticket raffles and online campaigns: $100K–$500K annually	Escape Club → $3M University funds → $1M Retreats → $1M Raffles + → $500K Total → $5.5M/year Scaling nationwide → potential $10M+

Why the Focus Should Now Be Execution

At this stage, the most important factor is not developing another plan. This plan exists because of the ideas and relationships you brought to the table. The reason this strategy works is because it aligns with the connections, campus access, and partnership potential that are already present.

The priority now is executing the plan and building the partnerships that will make it real. This initiative requires someone who can:

- build relationships with universities
- connect with student leaders
- establish partnerships with organizations
- coordinate collaboration between campuses and Army Pink
- finesse partnerships with retreat organizations and corporate sponsors

Simply sending general outreach emails will not create the level of engagement needed. What is required is strategic outreach that builds real relationships and partnerships, turning conversations into active collaborations.

This is why your role is critical — the network exists because of your idea and connections, and you are the right person to make this plan happen.
